These courses cover the general principles of surgery and are given in blocks of two and body response to trauma; surgical metabolism; stock; postoperative complications; principles of management of the patient with multiple injuries; wound healing and the inflammatory response; basic principles of surgical microbiology; antibiotics; general oncology; basic immunology; and organ transplantation and immunosuppression.

Course Component: Lecture